

ABSTRACT

System for displaying menus are provided. A representative system displays a menu in relation to an open document based upon menu items specified by a main menu module and menu items specified by behaviors associated with the document. Menu items specified by the behaviors associated with the document are merged with the menu items specified by the main menu module. Methods and other systems are also provided.